Hi all,

Sorry to nag!

If you can please let me know your unique BID's answers to the below questions, I would really appreciate it.

Thanks! Have great weekends!

Hello LA-area BID friends,

I have a couple of questions for you that I hope you can take a moment to answer for me.

First, do any of you have any interest in pushing for an ordinance that would require filings and special events to pay BIDs a cost recovery fee? This fee would cover clean-up costs and also contribute to the work we all do to keep our districts clean and safe and inviting, which is probably part of the reason the filming/events want to be there in the first place. If so, please let me know and we can continue the conversation.

Next, I'm taking an informal poll to see which, if any, BIDs advocate for individual businesses and developments in your district. I think I've asked in the past, but my group is considering this and they are curious what other BIDs are doing. If you don't currently advocate, but have an active business-centric organization in your community that does (like the Hollywood Chamber, for example), please let me know that too.

Thanks so much! I really appreciate our community.

Andrew
